

CORBET OF CAUS IN WESTBURY, SALOP

ARMS:*Or a raven sable [CORBET 1] (a1298?) [FEUDAL];*Or two ravens sable [CORBET 2] (1298) [FEUDAL]

CREST:

NOTE: This account has been based on much unverified information and will contain MANY OMISSIONS ANDS ERRORS. In particular no evidence has been seen to definitely link later Corbet families with that of Caus.

Jean C. Noble (40 Chyvelah Ope, Gloweth, TRURO, Cornwall TR1 3YA Tel: 01872 240938) of The Corbett Study Group provided much useful information.

LOYD does not mention a family of this name. OED states that in French corbel, corbet or corbeau means raven.

Corbet and his sons Roger and Robert were among several men given positions of authority in Shropshire by Earl Roger; Corbet seems to have been given lands on the border with a view to standing against the Welsh and Roger and Robert divided these. Roger's lands continued in the Corbet family, although the detailed descent is problematical. They formed the barony of Caus, named from the castle that lies now in Westbury parish, although the land on which it was built was probably one of the unnamed outliers of Worthen. [DB Shropshire (Phillimore) NOTE 4.3-4]

It has been assumed (?correctly) that Leigh lies in Worthen parish.
